The Day It All Went Wrong

Up late, yet again, missed the train, you know your gonna lose.
Cant stop, no time for toast, and you cant even tie your shoes.
Snap the key in the door, bang your head it has to be this day.
Kick the dog, bit you back, torn trousers, and now your on your way
Now your on your way.

You just wish there was something to die for
To make you wanna live today.
You just wish there was something to die for
To make you wanna live today.
You just wish there was something to die for
To make you wanna live today.
You just wish there was something to die for
To make you wanna live today.
