So far as yet

I can feel the touch of your eye, making me weak inside.
I can feel the touch of your skin, making me shiver within.
I can feel the heat of your breath sliding down my neck.
Why do I never see you cry, why do you never put up a fight?

Its just love I need over everything, still haven't found it, so far as yet.
Its just love I need over everything, still haven't found it, so far as yet.

I felt all the love turn bad, cos of what I didn't have.
I felt all the trust disappear, whenever I was near.
I felt how you looked upon me with nothing but deceit.
Why do I never see you cry, why do you never put up a fight?

Its just love I need over everything, still haven't found it, so far as yet.
Its just love I need over everything, still haven't found it, so far as yet.

I've been on the losing side, of a hundred different fights.
I've been the one who's cried, for so many night.
I've been down on my knee's screaming 'kill me please'.
Why do I never see you cry, why do you never put up a fight?

Its just love I need over everything, still haven't found it, so far as yet.
Its just love I need over everything, still haven't found it, so far as yet.

I've felt the touch of your eyes, making me weak inside.
I've felt the touch of your skin, making me shiver within.
I once felt the heat of your breath sliding down my neck.
Why did you never see me cry, why did I never put up a fight?
